

A quantizer that translates analog signals to digital values in an arduino, then back into analog signals after quantizing the values to a particular scale, selected with switches.

Uses the MCP4725 DAC connected to an arduino via its I2C pins.

